Either on Lakeside Terrace or behind the St Giles' Church on St Giles' Terrace. Because of the way sound travels around the Barbican it was difficult say exactly where.	1	No idea how many people were involved because I couldn't see anyone but could certainly hear them	I was about to ring the police when the music/noise ceased - possibly because a resident called the police. The noise stopped just before 2 am.

30/06/2021 14:51	43	Gilbert House	Resident	30/06/2021 12:00	Rowdy behaviour	Late night/early morning noise	St Giles' Terrace	5	I was disturbed at midnight last night - i.e. early hours of 30/6/21 - by a group of young men standing by a bench on St Giles' Terrace, overlooking the Barbican lake and close to Gilbert House, who were talking very loudly and playing loud music (not amplified on this occasion) but loud enough to wake me up. I went out onto our balcony to investigate and could, in fact, see two groups of young people but the music was coming from the group close to Gilbert House. They left at around 12.30 am	I did not take any action as, in the past, I have found it to be pointless in ringing the City of London Noise Abatement team as they just suggest that I ring the police as they can't take any action. I was about to ring the police but the young people left.
